The Nomination Committee's reasoned opinion

The Nomination Committee considers that continuity in the work of the Board is of great importance and that the Board has a composition of members with competence that supports the company's continued strategy. Furthermore, the Nomination Committee considers that the Board of Directors possesses good knowledge to manage the company's continued development. In view of this, the Nomination Committee has proposed the re-election of David Bejker, Denise Goode, Jan Törnell, Roger Franklin, and Edwin Moses.

As a diversity policy, the Nomination Committee has applied rule 4.1 of the Swedish Code of Corporate Governance ("the Code"), i.e. that the board must have a composition that is appropriate for the company's operations, stage of development and circumstances in general, characterized by versatility and breadth regarding the competence, experience and background of the members elected by the general meeting, and that an even gender distribution should be pursued. The proposed board is assessed with regard to the company's size, operations, stage of development and conditions in general, providing a suitable composition with regard to the competence, experience and background of the proposed members. The Nomination Committee intends to continue evaluating the composition of the board with the aim of achieving an even distribution of gender and competence to best serve the company's operations.

The issue of the board members' independence has also been discussed by the Nomination Committee. According to the Nomination Committee's opinion, the proposed board composition meets the requirements set out in the Code regarding independent members. Of the proposed members, a majority are independent in relation to the company and company management.

The composition of the board further meets the requirement that at least two of the board members who are independent in relation to the company and the company management are independent in relation to the company's major shareholders.

In conclusion, the Nomination Committee would like to thank David Laskow-Pooley, who declined re-election, for his long-term commitment and significant contribution as a Board member and Chair of the Board in the Company.

Information about all members proposed to Abliva's Board will be presented on the company's website, www.abliva.com.
